DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1, 2, 4 – 9, and 11 – 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Wagner et al. (U.S. Pat. Pub. No. 2003/0066092) (Remote Task Scheduling for a Set Top Box).

- 4.1 Regarding claim 1, Wagner discloses a method for obtaining content for a wireless device (paragraphs 14, 15 “satellite”) comprising:

associating a code with at least both a desired server containing desired content and with control description data that defines at least when to start recording the desired content from the desired server (Abstract; Figs. 2, 3; paragraphs 15, 41 “the user can identify a start time, an end time, ...”);

storing in a code server, the code with associated control description data (Abstract; Figs. 2; paragraphs 15, 41); and providing, by the code server, at least the stored control description data to the wireless device to facilitate acquisition of content (Abstract; Figs. 2, 3; paragraphs 15, 41);

from time to time, sending the code by the wireless device to the code server; and in response to receiving the code, the code server performs the step of providing the stored control description data to the wireless device (Abstract; Figs. 2, 3; paragraphs 15, 41; paragraph 42).

4.2 Per claim 2, Wagner teaches the method of claim 1 wherein the step of providing at least the stored control description data includes the step of performing, by the wireless device, time based retrieval of the desired content in response to record start time data included in the control description data (Abstract; Figs. 2, 3; paragraphs 15, 41).

4.3 Per claim 4, Wagner teaches the method of claim 1 wherein the step of storing the code with the associated control description data includes generating a server code database containing a plurality of codes each having associated control description data and publishing an online directory accessible by a plurality of subscriber wireless devices wherein the directory includes each of the plurality of codes and a description of what the code does (Abstract; Figs. 2, 3; paragraphs 15, 41).

4.4 Regarding claim 5, Wagner discloses the method of claim 3 wherein the step of providing the code is done in response to an access request by the wireless device and transparent to a user of the wireless device, obtaining, by the wireless device the desired content using the control description data (Abstract; Figs. 2, 3; paragraphs 15, 41).

4.5 Per claim 6, Wagner teaches the method of claim 1 wherein the control description data includes at least one of: a destination identifier for a desired content source, a record start time for the content, a record stop time for the content, and transmission protocol required to retrieve the desired content from the desired content source (Abstract; Figs. 2, 3; paragraphs 15, 41).

4.6 Regarding claim 7, Wagner discloses the method of claim 1 including storing user call back data with associated codes for each of a plurality of users and initiating a call back in response to control description data associated with the code (Abstract; Figs. 2, 3; paragraphs 15, 41).

4.7 Per claims 8, 9, and 11 – 17, the rejection of claims 1, 2, and 4 – 7 under 35 USC 102(e) (paragraphs 4.1 – 4.6 above) applies fully.

Response to Arguments

Art Unit: 2141

3. Applicant's arguments filed 1/16/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that Wagner not applicable in the present Application due to the 37 CFR 1.131 Declaration filed 10/22/07.

Examiner has carefully reviewed the Rule 131 Declaration. The evidence presented has not met the burden under 37 CFR 1.131. Invention of the subject matter of the rejected claims 1, 2, 4 – 9, and 11 – 17 of the present Application has been determined not to predate the effective filing date of the Wagner reference (October 1, 2001).

Conception

Applicant has not met the burden with regard to conception.

Very little evidence was presented regarding conception.

Reduction to Practice

Applicant has not met the burden with regard to the invention being reduced to practice.

Applicant has provided no evidence as to reduction to practice.

Examiner reminds Applicant of the specific passage in the MPEP (MPEP 2138.05) on reduction to practice.

Reduction to practice requires that the invention existed and worked for its initial purpose.
